

Ethical and Malpractice Statement

If any Manuscript incorporates copyright protected material, authors must be sure they have general permission under fair or education provisions of copyright law to reproduce this material, or else have permission from the original publisher to reproduce this material. The author certifies that this is an original work, and that neither this Manuscript, nor a version of it, has been published previously, nor is being considered for publication elsewhere, and that all individuals represented as author(s) actually contributed to the Manuscript and that all individuals who contributed are included. Plagiarism is unacceptable. Authors should cite all sources, formal and, where suitable, informal, that have contributed to their paper. For studies or interviews using human subjects, manuscripts must be accompanied by a statement that the experiments were conducted with the understanding and written consent of each subject. The author agrees that any Manuscript accepted for publication by SSR will be published in SSR in the format, and in accordance with the production and distribution choices of the Editor. SSR is not responsible for any violation of assurances by authors. The editors reserve the right to reject any paper, or ask an author to retract, if there are serious doubts about these standards.
